1 Angel Oak Tree
Angel Oak Tree, located within Angel Oak Park, is one of the most awe-inspiring natural landmarks in the American South. Estimated to be over 400–500 years old, this massive Southern live oak stands as a symbol of resilience and timeless beauty. Its sprawling canopy stretches over 17,000 square feet, with long, twisting branches that seem to touch the ground and create a magical, shaded sanctuary beneath.

2 Charleston Tea Garden
Charleston Tea Garden is a unique and refreshing destination, proudly known as the only commercial tea plantation in North America. Set across acres of lush greenery, this scenic garden offers visitors a rare chance to experience the full journey of tea—from cultivation to production.

3 Deep Water Vineyard
Deep Water Vineyard is a charming and laid-back winery nestled on scenic Wadmalaw Island, just outside Charleston. Known as the only domestic winery in the Charleston area, it offers a relaxing escape surrounded by sprawling vineyards, towering oak trees, and peaceful countryside views.
