1

Mukilteo Ferry Terminal

After a comfortable pickup from your Seattle location, your Whidbey Island wine adventure begins as your dedicated guide drives you north to the historic Mukilteo Ferry Terminal — one of Washington State's most beloved and scenic ferry departure points. Located just 25 miles north of Seattle along the Puget Sound shoreline, this waterfront terminal has connected mainland Washington with Whidbey Island for over a century. Step aboard the iconic Washington State Ferry and find a comfortable spot on the outdoor deck or relax inside by the viewing windows as the vessel glides across the sparkling waters of Puget Sound. During the approximately 20-minute crossing, take in breathtaking panoramic views of the Olympic Mountains to the west, the Cascade Range to the east, and the forested shores of Whidbey Island drawing ever closer. Keep your eyes peeled for harbor seals, bald eagles, and great blue herons — a truly memorable Pacific Northwest welcome before your island wine adventure begins.

2

Greenbank Farm

Your first stop on Whidbey Island is the beloved and historic Greenbank Farm — a destination for wine, cheese, pie, art, and dogs! Browse the Wine Shop specializing in Whidbey Island wines, hard ciders, and the famous Loganberry Dessert Wine, then pop next door to the Cheese Shop inside a charming 100-year-old barn stocked with local and imported cheeses, gourmet goods, and gifts. Grab a slice of the legendary Whidbey Island Pie and a fresh espresso from the café, explore the multiple art galleries showcasing talented local artists, and stroll through the beautiful Master Gardeners Educational Gardens by the peaceful pond. With 7 miles of scenic dog-friendly trails, this is the perfect unhurried first stop to soak in the authentic island spirit before your wine tasting adventures ahead. Whether you are a wine lover, foodie, art enthusiast, or dog owner — Greenbank Farm has something wonderful waiting just for you

3

Holmes Harbor Cellars

From Greenbank Farm, your wine journey continues to one of Whidbey Island's most celebrated & scenic wineries — Holmes Harbor Cellars. Perched on a beautiful 20-acre wooded estate overlooking the stunning Holmes Harbor, this boutique winery has been crafting bold, full-bodied wines exclusively aged in oak cask barrels since 2008. Founded by Greg & Thresa Martinez, Holmes Harbor Cellars focuses primarily on rich red varietals using premium grapes grown in Washington's renowned Yakima Valley — producing wines of outstanding quality, balance, and elegance that have earned a loyal following among wine enthusiasts across the Pacific Northwest. Step inside the cozy tasting room, find a comfortable spot on one of the scenic outdoor benches, and let the knowledgeable staff guide you through a carefully curated flight of their finest wines. Keep an eye out for the resident bunnies hopping freely around the property — a charming & unexpected touch that makes this winery visit truly unforgettable

4

Hierophant Meadery

Prepare for something truly unique at Hierophant Meadery — one of Whidbey Island's most fascinating and distinctive craft beverage destinations. This award-winning small-batch meadery specializes in botanically infused honey wines crafted in the ancient Metheglin style — a centuries-old tradition of blending honey wine with herbs, botanicals, and natural flavors to create complex, aromatic, and utterly captivating meads. All of Hierophant's meads are entirely gluten-free, making them a wonderful option for guests with dietary preferences. Browse the large, welcoming tasting room and spacious outdoor patio, sample an impressive selection of award-winning meads alongside elderberry syrups and herbal teas, and explore the beautifully curated gift selection featuring botanical products, handcrafted goods, and unique island souvenirs. A truly one-of-a-kind tasting experience unlike anything else on Whidbey Island.

5

Ott & Hunter Wines

Continue your Whidbey Island wine adventure with a visit to the charming Ott & Hunter Wines — conveniently located in the heart of downtown Langley, one of Whidbey Island's most beloved and picturesque waterfront villages. Founded by winemaker Chris Hunter, who crafts wines for his in-laws David Ott and Diane Kaufman, this intimate boutique winery focuses primarily on elegant red Rhône varieties using premium grapes sourced from eastern Washington's finest wine-growing regions. Step into the welcoming tasting room and discover a carefully curated selection of refined, sophisticated wines that beautifully showcase the rich terroir and winemaking talent of the Pacific Northwest. With its convenient downtown Langley location, this stop also offers the perfect opportunity to take a short stroll through the charming village streets, browse the unique boutique shops, and soak in the stunning waterfront views of Saratoga Passage before continuing your island wine journey.

6

Leo & Leto's Winery and Bistro

Conclude your Whidbey Island wine adventure at Leo & Leto's Winery and Bistro (formerly Blooms Winery & 5511 Bistro), a welcoming destination where local craftsmanship, exceptional wines, and delicious cuisine come together. Continuing the island's rich winemaking tradition, Leo & Leto's offers a thoughtfully curated selection of handcrafted wines made from premium Washington-grown grapes, each reflecting the unique character of the region. Pair your tasting with a flavorful bistro-style meal featuring fresh, seasonal ingredients and a menu of satisfying brunch and dinner favorites. Whether you choose to relax indoors or enjoy the inviting outdoor setting, you'll experience warm island hospitality in a comfortable and charming atmosphere. Raise a final glass, savor the flavors of Whidbey Island, and unwind before taking the scenic drive back to the ferry terminal, ending your day with lasting memories of great wine, delicious food, and beautiful island views.

7

Clinton Ferry Terminal

Your Whidbey Island adventure concludes with a scenic drive south from Deception Pass Bridge to the Clinton Ferry Terminal, showcasing the island's picturesque forests, farmland, and coastal landscapes along the way. The journey takes just over an hour, offering one last opportunity to enjoy Whidbey Island's natural beauty before boarding the ferry. Relax on the approximately 20-minute ferry crossing back to the mainland, where you'll enjoy sweeping views of Puget Sound as you reflect on a memorable day of wine, scenery, and island charm.

8

Seattle

Upon arriving back on the mainland, your dedicated guide will transfer you comfortably back to your original pickup location — bringing this unforgettable Whidbey Island wine tour to a perfect and peaceful close.
